

PROVEN ECZEMA CURE

For several years we have announced, with our recommendation, that we had found a positive cure for eczema; a simple skin wash, oil of wintergreen compounded with other healing ingredients.

Yet we know there are people right in this town who have eczema, and still have never tried this remedy.

We have, therefore, arranged with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special offer of a trial bottle at 25 cents, instead of the $1.00 bottle as regularly sold. Be sure of the correct name, D. D. D. Prescription.

We offer this trial bottle with our recommendation and assurance that just as soon as the patient washes his itching skin, this mild liquid will take the itch away instantly.

TEN REASONS

WHY WE ASK FOR YOUR

Prescriptions and Patronage

1st. A competent and licensed pharmacist at our store every minute when it is open.

2d. The best we can obtain in drugs, chemicals and pharmaceuticals.

3d. A large line of nearly everything a doctor can wish for.

4th. At prices as low as possible for quality furnished.

5th. Distilled water used in all our preparations and prescriptions when "aqua pura" is called for. We distill it ourselves every week, and know it is fresh and pure.

6th. If we know what the doctor uses, and do not have it in stock, will get it at our earliest convenience.

7th. Prompt attention to all orders, prescriptions and telephone calls.

We are competent to prepare private formulas, and can make as good pharmaceuticals as anybody.

8th. We guess at nothing. If the prescription is not perfectly plain, we consult the doctor before preparing it, and we never substitute. If we do not have what is called for, we either get it or let the prescription go elsewhere.

9th. We want your business, need your business, and will do all we can to keep your business.

DEAR LADIES

It's Parisian Sage That Makes That Other Woman's Hair so Bewitchingly Lustrous.

When we say that Parisian Sage is the most wonderful hair tonic, dressing and beautifier known to mankind, we are simply stating a fact that you can easily prove.

Get a large 50-cent bottle to-day; use it for two weeks; if it isn't the most delightful and refreshing tonic you ever used; if it doesn't drive out dandruff, stop falling hair or itching scalp, you can have your money back.

Mrs. Francis Keogh, 41 W. Jessamine street, St. Paul, Minn., on November 16, 1909, wrote: "I have used several hair tonics, but there is none that can compare with Parisian Sage."

It cured my falling hair and dandruff, and it does not only cure these troubles, but is the best hair grower in the world."

Parisian Sage is creating a sensation wherever introduced. It is not sticky or greasy. It is in great demand by women of superior taste and refinement who desire fascinating and luxuriant hair that never fails to compel admiration.

MONTPELIER.

Mrs. Fred L. Smith Presents Land to Christ Church.

Mrs. Fred L. Smith has presented to Christ church, through its rector and wardens, what is known as the Irish property next the church. The property was purchased by Colonel Smith for $4,000, with the intention of sometime presenting it to the church. The gift includes quite a strip of land and will give room for any additions to the church which may seem necessary.

The flag on the armory was at half mast yesterday in memory of Adj. Gen. W. H. Gilmore, whose funeral was held there.

Nathaniel Henry Stackpole, a former employee of the McCum store, and a son of Charles Stackpole of East Montpelier, was married Tuesday at Manchester, N. H., to Miss Bertha L. Merrill of that place. They will reside in Fitchburg, Mass., where the groom is manager of one of the Kennedy and company stores.

A silver mounted whiskey set, consisting of two decanters and twelve glasses, with a silver shield, properly inscribed, decorating one of the decanters, has been presented by the board of trade to the Montpelier Gun club as a trophy to be awarded to the highest amateur average in the annual tournament, May 24 and 25.

The new store of the Bakery and Confectionary company, to be located where the art store of Hawley M. Smith was, will be run under the firm name of Farrar and Vinton, and, although owned by Waldo H. Farrar, will be in no way connected with the City cafe, which is managed and owned by him.

Frederic Vinton is to have charge of the new store. Mr. Farrar is now in Boston purchasing supplies.

The receipts of the Montpelier post office were materially increased last year, with the result that it is probable it will step into the first class within the next year. The increase in the first class are those offices which have annual receipts of $40,000 or over and the receipts at the Montpelier office last year were $33,225, which is not a long step from the required amount.

It is now a second-class office. The increase last year over the year before was $4,000. There are only four first-class offices in this state, at Burlington, Rutland, Bellows Falls and Brattleboro. The three largest patrons of the postoffice in this city are the National Life Insurance company, the American Fidelity company, and the other fire insurance companies coming next.

The regular meeting of Vermont lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F., which was also in commemoration of the 91st anniversary of the founding of the lodge of Old Fellows in America, was held last evening in the lodge rooms. The anniversary actually comes April 26, but the meeting was held at this time to permit the attendance of Rev. A. J. Hough, who is soon to leave Montpelier. A musical and literary program was given at the meeting.

W. B. Worthen, past grand, presented Dr. Hough a gold-headed cane. The gift was suitably inscribed and was a great surprise to Mr. Hough. From that time on, the meeting was in the nature of a farewell to him, many words of tribute and appreciation being expressed by his brothers in the lodge. He leaves tomorrow for his new charge as pastor of the Methodist church in Proctorville.

RANDOLPH.

Death of Wilbur F. Howard, Forty Years Deacon of Congregational Church.

The death of Deacon Wilbur F. Howard came at the sanatorium, where he had been for two years and five months, at an early hour Tuesday evening. Mr. Howard had been in failing health for months previous to his going there, and the care and treatment at this institution did not arrest the decline, and his falling strength was so gradual that it was hardly noticeable, death coming rather unexpectedly at last.

Wilbur F. Howard was the youngest of six children born to Mr. and Mrs. William Howard, on March 20, 1827, in Barre. When a small child his father died, and at the age of six years he went to live with a Mr. and Mrs. Richardson in Elmore, where he remained until he was of age. Following this, he went to Barre to reside, where he married Rebecca Trow of that place and with whom he lived until her death occurred July 15, 1900. Two daughters survive him; Mrs. Harriette Dunnop of Bennett Square, Pa., and Miss C. Kate Howard of this village. Five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren also survive him.

Deacon Howard's life was one of unusual interest, having been bereft of his father when very young and coming to manhood with well-grounded principles and a positive Christian belief, which developed into a strong character. About 60 years ago, he with his family came to reside in town, where he first lived upon a farm, and after which he moved to this village, where he had been a resident for 40 years.

After he came here, he affiliated himself with the Congregational church, where he was an interested and active member, and a deacon of this church for 40 years. Possessed of a remarkable memory, he was very familiar with the Bible, being able to repeat much of it, which he often did while conversing with his friends. He also memorized many poems, which were often given while visiting with his acquaintances. Mr. Howard enlisted from Randolph in Company C, 15th Vermont regiment, as a nine-months' man, and served during his entire time.

He was on the field during the battle of Gettysburg, where he had care of the supplies. Mr. Howard had been a member of U. S. Grant post, G. A. R., for about 10 years, but the infirmities of age and failing health made it impossible for him to attend many of the meetings. The funeral will be held from Bethany church Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when Rev. W. T. Spencer, Rev. Francis Motger and Dr. A. L. Cooper will conduct the service, and interment will be in the family lot in Southview cemetery.

Mrs. S. S. Whitcomb visited her sister, Mrs. Lorena Thatcher, in Northfield Falls Wednesday.

Miss Katie Ripley of Malden, Mass., is visiting her aunt, Miss Margaret Ripley, of this place.

Miss Elvira Blanchard went to the sanatorium on Wednesday morning for treatment for a few days.

Miss Eunice Slack, a sanatorium nurse, is at East Randolph this week, caring for Dr. Newell's daughter, who is ill with pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Atwood returned Wednesday from a visit of a week with their daughter, Mrs. C. E. Lazzelle, at White River Junction.

Mrs. W. B. Viall returned from New York City, where she was summoned by the illness of her daughter, Mrs. H. G. Beckman, on Wednesday.

Miss Dudley Montfort went to Burlington Tuesday for a brief visit with her brother, Sherman Moulton, and while there attended the Peary lecture.

The household furniture of Rev. P. A. Wells is being shipped to White River Junction, where he is to have charge of the Methodist church the coming year.

O. W. Brookway, who lives on Fish Hill, is very ill with pneumonia, and at this time it is thought he cannot survive but a few hours. Mr. Brookway is well known in town, where he does business, and is a farmer in comfortable circumstances.

What the Barre Manufacturers' Association Should Do.

To whom it may concern:

Since the strike in this vicinity has settled and work resumed, there has been a great deal of talk about low prices. There have been many reasons given why prices are so low: increase in the hill quarries' shipping stock to parties outside the state at the same price as to those in the state, dealers doing their own manufacturing, etc. Every body has a reason, but no one seems able to remedy the situation. In fact, one man alone can do nothing. He must have the assistance of all the manufacturers, and this he cannot get. True, there is an association, but all that is for is to gather together every three or five years, as the case may be when the stone cutters' bill runs out, and fight to keep down the wages of the cutter. What this business wants is to educate the stone cutter, not to keep his wages down. Educate him and put him in a position where he can earn the hill. Make an apprentice serve four years, if necessary, but when they have finished their apprenticeship, let them be stone cutters that can cut stone. We would suggest that a drawing school be established by the benefit of the apprentices. There they could learn how to draw, and then the boss gives them a drawing, they know what to do. Surely the granite business in these two cities pays enough taxes to deserve something in return.

You say, "Why don't the association see what can be done about such a school?" Yes, why don't they? For the simple reason that there is no association in name only. This is not so much the fault of the officers as of the members themselves. They are willing to combine against the cutters, but finally they have to give in because of the weakness of the organization, such weakness being the consequence of competition. But just let anyone suggest that they combine to get a fair price for their work. "Impossible," they say; "it would do away with competition and the business would go to rack and ruin." But would the business go to rack and ruin? If the manufacturers would get together and establish a bill of prices and see that everyone lived up to those prices, there would be a wonderful improvement. And the dealer would be more satisfied at the prices he would get.

But, at the present time, if a dealer wants a price, he sends to all the manufacturers he can find and asks for prices. When he gets them, they differ from five to twenty dollars on a small job to three or four hundred dollars on a large job. Why is there this difference? He asks himself. He thinks that the manufacturer who is asking the largest price is trying to rob him and at once labels him in his mind as a thief. Or, perhaps, this dealer sent to only a few manufacturers for prices, receiving a price on a job of $100.00, say. This being the lowest price received, he bases his price to his customer on that. His competitor across the street has asked prices of other manufacturers and gets a price as low as $75.00 on the same job. He in turn bases his price on this quotation and goes to visit the first dealer's customer. And then the trouble begins.

When he tells the customer the price for which he can get the job, the customer begins to sit up. Twenty-five dollars difference! The customer thinks that dealer No. 1 has taken him for an "easy mark." No, he has tried to rob him of twenty-five dollars, and of course gives the order to dealer No. 2.

Now there is no reason why there should be such a difference. We do not believe that there is a difference of more than 1 per cent. in the cost of work. Then, why this difference in the price? The only reason we can think of is that the manufacturers do not know the cost of their work. Then a few manufacturers have found out the cost and try to get a price to cover expenses and a fair profit, they find that they cannot, as long as such competition is in existence. But there is no reason why the manufacturers cannot get together and get a price for the work that will pay for expenses and leave a fair margin of profit.

Take the Quarry Owners' association, for example. They have a good organization and have a bill of prices that all must live up to. The manufacturers have to pay the quarry owners' prices, why shouldn't the manufacturers have a uniform bill of prices that the dealer would be glad to pay? The dealer in turn would know that his competitor has the same price as himself, and that the sale will depend upon salesmanship, rather than on a lower price.

We think that the association, in order to be of any use, should meet more frequently and discuss costs and prices, get acquainted with each other and get over the feeling that the other fellow is trying to bid under him, and, consequently, he must go a little lower to get the work—a little below cost, if need be, to keep his men going. We suggest that the association make a rule that any member who will not be present at such a meeting through negligence will feel the consequences.

We know that there are manufacturers in the association who are capable of teaching the other members, who are ignorant of any method, how to figure. Better take the first step at once and remove all the pool tables that are occupying a large space of considerable worth from the association hall, and substitute a blackboard and some tables, converting the pool room into a school for this purpose. (We may be the ones who need a few lessons the most and would like to have a place reserved for us.) This will certainly be a great improvement (although some members prefer the poolroom) and will place all the members on the same level. A system of telling the cost would be taught, and once the manufacturers as a whole know what the work costs, the prices will become more uniform. This would be the best plan and would work out all right, but we must have a printed bill to give all the members; eventually all those starting in business, because they are, as a rule, most ignorant of the cost of producing work.

In conclusion, we urge that the manufacturers make the association an organization that will work for the good of the members and of the trade in general, an organization that each member feels that he has a part in and that it is his duty to assist in all its movements for advancement. When we have an association that is an association, every manufacturer will be proud to be a member of it, which, certainly, no one can be today. At least we are not.

SWIFT'S—A SUPERIOR CLASS OF FERTILIZERS.

"Having used Swift's High-Grade 'Animal Brand' of Fertilizer, 300 lbs. per acre on a five acre piece of soilage corn the past season, must say, notwithstanding its being a very dry season, I harvested the biggest crop of corn per acre I ever raised. It was immense, thick and well eared, averaging fully 12 feet high, after several hard frosts. I managed to get it nearly all into a 57 ton silo during two weeks setting before it froze or it would doubtless have required a great deal more room. Have also used your fertilizers on potatoes and other crops with splendid results."

"It is with pleasure that I give this testimonial having used Swift's Animal Fertilizers for several years, and can say I believe them superior to any other class of fertilizers on the market, being Animal Blood, Meat and Bone, they furnish a large amount of concentrated organic matter for humus, which greatly aids in absorbing and holding moisture, thus hastening dissolution of all soil elements for plant life."

"I would recommend all up-to-date, progressive farmers to try Swift's Animal Fertilizers and learn of their real merits and great value."

WORTH SEEING.

Joseph M. Weber's Play "The Climax," One of the Best in Years.

There has been a great deal of interest manifested in the forthcoming engagement of Joseph M. Weber's charming play, "The Climax," a comedy drama in three acts by Edward Locke, with incidental music by Joseph Carl Brill, which will have its first local hearing during the season. "The Climax" is said to be the one big success of the year, scoring a most unprecedented triumph at Weber's famous New York play house, where it will be seen for many weeks to come, and will undoubtedly be the strongest and most wholesome offering that will be seen here this season. So great has been the demand for the play throughout the country that Manager Weber will have less than five companies on tour this season. It can be truthfully said that "the sun never sets" on "The Climax," as it will be seen in America, England, Australia, Germany, Italy, India, France, Spain, Sweden, Africa, South America and in other parts of the world where it will be played in all languages. Four characters make up the entire cast of this exquisite little play, and the plot is a simple one, drawn from the career of a young girl studying for the operatic stage. It deals with the artistic temperament and musicians are its leading characters. Pitted against them is a physician who would destroy the voice of the girl he loves that he may keep her from the stage and make her his wife. The development of the plot introduces both instrumental and vocal music in which "The Song of the Sun" is one of the important features. "The Climax" is one of those beautiful creations that utterly defies criticism, and is a pretty play, so prettily told, that a synopsis of its plot seems to mar it, as one must see it to appreciate it. The present company is said to be one of exceptional merit, each member being fitted with a part admirably suited to his or her respective personalities or talents.
